THE NEWS.

Nothing particularly new from Grant. It is because he is too busy to report? It is rumored that Lee has withdrawn his army to the south side of the Chickahominy, but the statement is not generally credited. A correspondent states that our lines have been advanced until our men and the rebels are within talking distance at some points.

The committee appointed for that purpose, called at the White House yesterday, and formally informed Mr. Lincoln of his nomination. The President said he was grateful for the honor, and "knew no reason to doubt that he should accept the nomination tendered him." He was also called upon by a committee of the National Union League, who congratulated him upon his re-nomination, whereupon Old Abe made a characteristic speech, and wound up by "telling a little story."

Secretary Stanton's official bulletin informs us that Gen. Hunter's victory in the vicinity of Stanton, was a much more important affair than first reported. He took 20 cannon and a large amount of stores.

A terrible steamboat accident occurred on the Hudson river on Wednesday night. The splendid steamer Berkshire, only six weeks off the stocks, took fire when two miles above Hyde Park, and burned to the water's edge. She had one hundred and fifty passengers on board, of whom forty or fifty were either burned to death or drowned. No names are as yet ascertained.

General Averill has been doing a good work in seconding the movements of General Crook.

In the Oranah Sound, Ga., on the night of the 2d inst., the U. S. steamer Water Witch was captured by eight armed boats sent out by the rebel Fort McAllister. The Water Witch is of 350 tons, and carries five guns.

There are intimations that General Butler is about to do something big in the rear of Richmond.

John Morgan and his raiders are having it for a day or two all their own way in Kentucky. They have possession of Paris and Georgetown, while some of them have been as far north as Cincinnati, and they are still advancing. Gen. Heintzelman will soon have troops enough in their front, however, to drive them off.

There is nothing new from Gen. Sherman.

The gold speculators run gold up to-day to 93.

Remarks of Mr. Sloan.

The remarks of Mr. Sloan which we print in another column, are not to be viewed in the light of a set speech, but are to be taken rather as the spontaneous effort of a burning, off-hand debate. The remarks were submitted in reply to a speech by the great New York copperhead, Fernando Wood, and while they are not marked by any unusual brilliancy of diction, the sentiments expressed are correct and true and such as commend themselves to the approval of all sensible men. Read them.

The Cleveland Leader of the 2d inst. gives an account of the attempted escape of rebel prisoners on Johnson's Island. They had made an excavation from underneath the cook-room floor to the wall of the prison, and had also made and got together the various articles necessary to aid them in effecting their escape. The discovery of the plot was effected through hints thrown out by one of the prisoners, that there was mischief brewing. The foiled rebels were so incensed at their in discreet companion, that they wanted to hang him.

THE FOLLOWING is the curious history of a Rhode Island soldier: He came home from Cuba on enlistment, joined one of the Rhode Island batteries, was sent to do garrison duty in North Carolina, thought his duty too slow, said he had enlisted for the sake of fighting and he must fight, deserted and joined a New York infantry regiment, was sent into the Gulf Department, fought in sixteen battles, was wounded, furloughed, and came home to be arrested as a deserter.

GAS METERS must be kept plumb if you wish them to measure correctly. Leaning forward they measure too little, and lean backward too much.—Exchange.

Gas companies, we believe, always put up the meters and we never yet heard of one leaning forward. We think the tendency is generally backward.

THE BERLIN people are getting excited over Madame Anna Bishop's singing; one party contending that she is a fine singer, and the other side asserting that some of the Berlin girls can beat her.

Sec'y CHASE has addressed a note to each head of bureau in his department, inquiring if any disloyal clerks or other employees have places therein.

THE ONLY papers in Wisconsin that support the Fremont movement, are the copperhead sheets.

A Pain of rebel shoes taken by one of Crook's command are thus described: "The soles and heels of the shoes are of wood, and appear to have been sawed out by machinery. The uppers, which are of very heavy stuff and badly tanned leather, are nailed upon the wooden soles with large tacks and welts.

CAN A MAN, who is never to be found in his own house, be said to belong to the genus home?

A Rebel Sergeant on General Grant.

The following rebel letter, recently found on the battle-field, gives "Sergeant Graham's" impression as to "the situation."

MR. SAINTED LOVE: It the Yankee cusses will let me alone, I will write you a letter. General U. S. Grant is a bull-dog, and Mende is a match for the devil. No matter how deeply we enslave ourselves in the woods, the Yankees are sure to find us out. They charge on our works again and again, and very often take them from us. They fight more fiercely than I have ever seen them. As for digging, Grant beats McClellan all hollow. The Yankees build strong works, and then our brave officers ask us to charge them. We have done so, and they have given us hell every time. My sainted love, you will excuse me for using this language, but if you were with us you would say that they gave us hell, too!

My patriotic fair one, I am almost tired of this! So long as there appeared a chance of achieving our national independence, I fought with a will, but that hope seems dashed to earth. I have no heart to strive any longer to keep Jeff. Davis from going to the devil sooner than he otherwise would.

Do not blush, my sainted love, but really I wish I were out of the army and joined to you in the holy bonds of wedlock.

After an allusion to matters appertaining to himself and his "sainted love," he closes as follows:

I must close hurriedly. We are ordered to charge the Yankees and, if possible, surprise them. Truly yours own.

SERGEANT GRAHAM, C. S. A.

Death of T. Butler King.

We learn through recent New Orleans sources that Thomas Butler King, of Ga., died in that State on the 10th of May. Mr. King, at one time quite prominent in political life, was born in Massachusetts, in the town of Hampden, in 1804, and was consequently about 60 years old. He removed to Georgia in 1823, and engaged in the cultivation of cotton. He was a member of the State Senate for four years, between 1832 and 1837. He was several times elected to Congress between 1839 and 1849. In 1850 he removed to California, and resided there some time, but subsequently returned to Georgia, and settled near Brunswick. There he was variously occupied with commerce and politics, and exerted considerable influence. He attended several southern conventions at New Orleans, Memphis, and elsewhere, between 1854 and 1860, and strongly advocated direct trade with Europe, by lines of steamers from Charleston and New Orleans. He was intimate with Davis, Quitman, Sillidell—a renegade northerner—and other prominent promoters of the rebellion.

Mr. King possessed fine qualities and very genial manners. He was something of a scholar and an orator, as well as a politician; and his addresses were always looked upon as flattering evidences of what the southern intellect could accomplish. He joined the rebellion with a better knowledge of its violence than most of those who enlisted in it, and maintained its cause with a complete cognizance of its evils. He lived to see his expectations broken and the curd castle beginning to totter. He died in season to save himself from those penalties which no one more richly deserved. His life will serve as a beacon to warn others from ruin, rather than a pillar to point towards honor and praise.

A Man who Died in Doing his Duty.

It is probably known to most of our readers, that by the accident to the Lake Shore train, Engineer Durif was mortally wounded while doing his duty. The train consisted of seven passenger cars, and two baggage cars. When the train approached the trestle work near Kenosha, the sand had so drifted on the track and rails, that the engine irresistibly was carried off the track. The engineer at once detected the danger. He perceived the engine must go down to the water. He could have jumped off to the soft sand and saved his life, but like the true soldier with a grand soul, he hesitated not to meet certain death, in order that others might be saved. He instantly applied the steam brakes in order to stop the train. He held his hand on that bar of iron until the engine plunged down into the abyss—nearly 50 feet. Upon that hundred down the trestle, upon the tender the baggage car, and there the train stopped. The first passenger car hung, as it were, over the gulf, but did not fall. Thus not a passenger was killed, injured, or even bruised.

By the timely application of the brakes the speed of the engine was stopped, and it fell, as it was inevitable, but did not rush on dragging the whole train with it. We erect a monument to the brave soldier who fearlessly stands up and tries to destroy the lives of others—because he is fighting in behalf of his country. Much more then should we erect a monument to the man who dies that others may live. His glory is the preservation of his fellow man, while that of the other is its destruction. The latter we call glory, the other we designate merely as duty, but we say that Engineer Durif, who died at Kenosha, deserves to be immortalized with even more honor than those who fall in the great army before Richmond.

Let the shaft of a monument arise on the banks of that river, with the simple inscription—"This man died that others might live."—Milwaukee Wisconsin.

SOUTHERN LADIES' FASHIONS.—Prof. Dabney, of Hamden, Sidney College, Va., writes to a friend in the North that there are only four students there, all disabled and furloughed soldiers. He adds:

Mrs. Dabney sends you five specimens of the ladies' wear, manufactured at home by herself and neighbors. They will interest the ladies of your family. They tell of the ladies who were the most obstinate of all the rebels—do not intend to be subjugated by having "nothing to wear." They are now generally clad in these fabrics at home and at church, and covered with home made bonnets made of braided straw, trimmed with flowers made and colored at home, and with bands and rosettes made of corn shucks. Let not the New York ladies, with their luxurious Paris finery, sneer; they have no idea how nice the corn shucks rosettes are, dyed with native dyes, any color, embroidered with silks reaveled from old scarfs or stockings, and as glossy as Lyons satin. They may be assured that in these home manufactures our Confederate belles look fine enough to win the hearts of our gallant men.

Why are gate posts like the human species? Because they prop-a-gate.

FRIDAY, JUNE 10, 1864.

ULYSSES S. GRANT.

Give us your hand, General Grant—
You're not the coward to say "I can't,"
Nor the boaster to say "I can,"
But you want to work with a will and won,
To prove that the thing could be done.
Oh, God was kind, and Heaven was true,
When it gave us a man like you.
We honor you, General Grant!
You have made
The hearts of the nation with joy to pant,
That were lying cold in the shade,
And they blow you over for what you're doing,
For the glorious victories won,
And pray that kind Heaven may grant a day
More such brave fighting men as you.
—lyses Grant—
More such brave fighting men as you.

SHORTEST NOTICE! 655 1/2 Main St.

FARMERS, TAKE NOTICE! The undersigned are having made at Beloit, Wis., one hundred of those Reapers known as the Cheap, or Webber Reaper! Notwithstanding the increase of nearly double in price over other years of all materials put in Reapers, we are going to sell for 1864 at about the same prices as last year. Our prices at the shop are $110 each for single Reapers, for Reapers and Mower $110. We are making Fifty Mowers, which will be warranted to good work. They will be made of steel barbed the Buckeye pattern, except the hinges.

Those buying Reapers should know that we have the best year or two (Reaper) for the same price, as the difference between our reaper and now.

We do not need it necessary to extol our Reapers, for it is already known to be the only two-horse Reaper in use. Notwithstanding a great many are used with two horses, they ought to be three or four, and some of them six, to be as easy to the horses as ours are, to two ordinary horses.

Please send in your orders early to be sure of a machine, as positively only one hundred of them will be built, and we will warrant each and every machine to Work Well in all Kinds of Grain! The Reels will be different from last year. They will be the over hanging reel, and have six blades instead of four keeping the reel, holding the grain to the sickle steady.

They will be shipped to any depot in Wisconsin or Illinois. Ten per cent. will be added if sold on time. Due half the 1st of September, 1864, the balance the 1st of September, 1865.

Those buying machines will confer a favor by giving their names and addresses in their respective neighborhoods. When material gets to its usual stage we intend to make it a ninety dollar machine, and should have done it but for the unprecedented high prices of everything to construct machines with.

The Reaper Shop at High! will attend strictly to the repairing of the Webber Reapers. None others wanted. We are prepared to change from chain to belt, put on castor wheels upon short notice. Men will be on hand to repair promptly. Charges light as the cost of material will admit. We shall manufacture none at that place, consequently we will be prepared to repair. Work solicited. All orders should be directed to
